There had been one, it was recalled, in 1839, another in 1866, and now a third was suggested all within a period of fifty years. Would it not minister to confusion and vainglorying to have centenaries so frequently? The best reply, perhaps, to these doubts is to point to the fact and character of the Conference held last December, in Baltimore, and to add that if Methodism, brief as is its history, is pregnant with epochs as with results, no apology is necessary for the multiplication of centennial observances. The justification is in the importance of the events commemorated, each of which is charged with great historical significance. The first signalizes the rise of a movement which has profoundly affected the English-speaking peoples; the second marks the introduction of that movement into America, where it has had free course; the third indicates its escape from entangling alliances, and its entrance upon its God-given work as an independent, efficient, and unique organization. The Centenary of 1839, though belonging to all Methodists, was, in a special sense, an English Wesleyan anniversary, though it was observed quite generally in America. The Centenary of 1866, distinguishing an event of great importance to Methodism on this continent, was celebrated with enthusiasm by the Methodist Episcopal Church; but, owing to circumstances which it is not necessary...
