Reviews

It becomes an awesome publication that I actually have actually read. It really is written in simple terms and not difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

It is also provided that a fixed sum shall be paid to the insured in case of loss of sight, hands, or feet. In the case of other injuries resulting from accidents the amount paid to the insured is dependent upon the extent of the damage sustained. Provision is frequently made whereby the insured becomes entitled to a certain regular allowance in case of total disability to work. The usual accident policy contains a clause providing that no claim shall be valid where death or injury may have happened in consequence of voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger or perilous adventure. The certificate holder is required to show due diligence for his personal safety and protection. The amount to be paid by the insurer in case of injury by accident is usually an amount which will cover the financial loss resulting to the insured, by virtue of the accident, and does not take into account his physical or mental suffering. Where the insurance is a sum certain, named in the policy, the insured is entitled to receive that sum, although it may be in excess of his earnings at the time, provided there is no stipulation to the contrary in the contract. Sickness...
